Ordinary Income Dividends (shown in Box 1a of your Form 1099-DIV) – These distributions will be taxed as ordinary income whether received in cash or reinvested in stock.

Capital Gain Distributions (shown in Box 2a of your Form 1099-DIV) – Shows the portion of the Fund’s total distributions that represent long term capital gains.

Return of Capital (shown as “Nondividend distributions” in Box 3 of your Form 1099-DIV) – These distributions represent a non-taxable return of capital. These distributions are a tax-free return of capital and should not be reported as income, whether received in cash or reinvested in stock. The distributions from return of capital will, however, reduce your cost basis in the shares.

Qualified Dividends (shown in Box 1b of your Form 1099-DIV) – The percentage of the ordinary income dividends that may be eligible for reduced capital gains tax rates.

Dividends Received Deduction The percentage of the ordinary income dividends that qualify for the dividends received deduction allowed to certain corporate shareholders.

Of the ordinary income dividends paid in 2021 by the Virtus Closed End Funds, no portion was derived from earnings on obligations of the U.S. Government.
