Statement of Additional Information (“SAI”) dated January 29, 2018, as supplemented

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO INVESTORS

The Board of Trustees of Virtus Opportunities Trust has approved the liquidation of Virtus Duff & Phelps International Equity Fund (the “Fund”). Based on the recommendation of management, the Trustees determined that liquidation is in the best interest of the shareholders and voted to direct the mandatory redemption of all shares of the Fund. Effective March 29, 2018, the Fund will be closed to new investors and additional investor deposits.

On or about April 27, 2018 (the “Liquidation Date”), the Fund will be liquidated at its net asset value. Prior to such time, shareholders may exchange their shares of the Fund for shares of the same class of any other Virtus Mutual Fund. Shareholders may also redeem their shares at any time prior to the Fund’s liquidation on the Liquidation Date. There will be no fee or sales charges associated with exchange or redemption requests.

Any shares not exchanged or redeemed by the close of business on the Liquidation Date will be redeemed and the account value distributed to shareholders, except shares held in BNY Mellon IS Trust Company custodial accounts, which will be exchanged for shares of the Virtus Newfleet Low Duration Income Fund. Shareholders with BNY Mellon IS Trust Company custodial accounts should consult the prospectus for the Virtus Newfleet Low Duration Income Fund for information about that fund.

Because the exchange or redemption of your shares could be a taxable event, we suggest that you consult with your tax advisor prior to the Fund’s liquidation.

Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year, that the fund's operating expenses remain the same and that the expense reimbursement arrangement remains in place for the contractual period. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	Share Status	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	Sold or Held	$697	$1,359	$2,043	$3,857
Class C	Sold	$305	$1,041	$1,894	$4,099
	Held	$205	$1,041	$1,894	$4,099
Class I	Sold or Held	$104	$749	$1,419	$3,213
Class T	Sold or Held	$376	$1,061	$1,769	$3,645

Portfolio Turnover

The fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the example, affect the fund’s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the fund’s portfolio turnover rate was 98% of the average value of its portfolio.

Investments, Risks and Performance

Principal Investment Strategies

Under normal circumstances, the fund invests at least 80% of its assets in equity securities of issuers located outside of the United States. The fund invests primarily in developed countries, but may also invest in issuers located in emerging market countries. The subadviser seeks to diversify its portfolio from a variety of sectors and countries, and typically invests in the securities of medium to large capitalization companies, but is not limited to investing in the securities of companies of any particular size. The fund will invest in equity securities of issuers located outside of the United States both directly and through depositary receipts. The fund may use derivatives to hedge against foreign currency exchange rates.

The fund seeks to provide investors with access to high-quality international businesses selling at attractive valuations. Ideally these companies are not only growing their earnings but are also creating economic value by maintaining or growing their return on invested capital. The subadviser’s process is driven by bottom-up fundamental research and informed by top-down macro views. In evaluating securities for inclusion in the fund, the subadviser applies a cash flow based approach to valuation, as well as additional fundamental research to assess the economic value added, financial strength, franchise quality, and management alignment of individual companies. Top-down macro research is utilized to assess the market environment, and to assist with regional, country, and sector allocations. As part of the macro process, the subadviser takes into account, among other things; monetary policy, political factors, economic growth, and valuation.

Principal Risks

The fund may not achieve its objective(s), and it is not intended to be a complete investment program. The value of the fund’s investments that supports your share value may decrease. If between the time you purchase shares and the time you sell shares the value of the fund’s investments decreases, you will lose money. Investment values can decrease for a number of reasons. Conditions affecting the overall economy, specific industries or companies in which the fund invests can be worse than expected, and investments may fail to perform as the subadviser expects. As a result, the value of your shares may decrease. Purchase and redemption activities by fund shareholders may impact the management of the fund and its ability to achieve its investment objective(s). The redemption by one or more large shareholders or groups of shareholders of their holdings in the fund could have an adverse impact on the remaining shareholders in the fund including by accelerating the realization of capital gains and increasing the fund’s transaction costs. The principal risks of investing in the fund are:

- > Depositary Receipts Risk. The risk that investments in foreign companies through depositary receipts will expose the fund to the same risks as direct investments in securities of foreign issuers.
- > Derivatives Risk. The risk that the fund will incur a loss greater than the fund’s investment in, or will experience greater share price volatility as a result of investing in, a derivative contract. Derivatives may include, among other things, futures, options, forwards and swap agreements and may be used in order to hedge portfolio risks, create leverage, or to attempt to increase yield.
- > Emerging Market Investing Risk. The risk that prices of emerging markets securities will be more volatile, or will be more greatly affected by negative conditions, than those of their counterparts in more established foreign markets.
- > Equity Securities Risk. The risk that events negatively affecting issuers, industries or financial markets in which the fund invests will impact the value of the stocks held by the fund and, thus, the value of the fund’s shares over short or extended periods. Investments in a particular style or in small or medium-sized companies may enhance that risk.
- > Foreign Investing Risk. The risk that the prices of foreign securities in the fund’s portfolio will be more volatile than those of domestic securities, or will be negatively affected by currency fluctuations, less regulated or liquid securities markets, or economic, political or other developments.
- > Market Volatility Risk. The risk that the value of the securities in which the fund invests may go up or down in response to the prospects of individual issuers and/or general economic conditions. Such price changes may be temporary or may last for extended periods.
- > Value Stocks Risk. The risk that the fund will underperform when value investing is out of favor or that the fund’s investments will not appreciate in value as anticipated.
